

U.S. Demands Return Of Ship

Task Force Moves On Korea

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Navy task force including the carrier Enterprise cruised toward North Korea today as the United States applied diplomatic leverage in a bid to recover its captured intelligence ship Pueblo.

The four-ship American force moved in high readiness through the Sea of Japan while the United States asked the Soviet Union to persuade North Korea to give up the 935-ton craft, which had 83 men aboard.

The White House called North Korea's capture of the lightly armed vessel "a very serious situation." The State Department viewed it "with utmost gravity."

President Johnson was to preside today at what was described as a regular meeting of the National Security Council. The ship incident was likely to be the No. 1 topic.

In Panmunjom, Korea, where the Korean War truce was negotiated, the United Nations Command strongly protested the seizure and demanded immediate return of the ship. The command also demanded a North Korean apology.

But the head of the North Korean delegation there, Maj. Gen. Choong-kook, claimed the Pueblo violated North Korean territorial waters off Wonsan and was trying to "come closer to the land to perpetrate intolerable provocative acts" when North Korean navy vessels "returned fire."

Some congressmen called the Pueblo's takeover an act of war and there were suggestions from Capitol Hill that the United States retaliate.

Sources said the nuclear-powered Enterprise was accompanied by the nuclear frigate Truxton and two other combat ships.

Late Tuesday night the ships—diverted from a combat assignment off Vietnam—were southwest of Sasebo, Japan, and hours away from the North Korean port of Wonsan where the Pueblo was assumed held prisoner. In her last message, the Pueblo reported she had been told to follow four North Korean patrol boats into Wonsan.

A North Korea Korean report monitored in Tokyo said the United States was trying to "ignite another war."

Ambassador William J. Porter informed South Korean officials in Seoul the United States had decided to take "certain initial measures" following the seizure.

Sources in the Korean capital speculated that beyond the dispatching of a naval force, retaliatory military actions against North Korea "are not totally excluded."

Information Minister Hong Jong-chul of South Korea said the North Korean Communist regime "must prepare itself to pay due price for its inhumane, unwarranted terrorism."

North Koreans commandeered the electronics-packed Pueblo at 11:45 p.m. EST, Monday, wounding four crewmen—one critically—according to her radioed reports.

The Pueblo was the first U.S. ship captured since the Civil War—when Confederates captured the Union's Harriet Lane—and a Pentagon spokesman said "she did not fire a shot."

Why? This was one of many unanswered questions. Japan's Kyodo News Service quoted North Korea as saying the Communists "killed or wounded" several Pueblo crewmen when the North Koreans "returned" fire from the "intruding" U.S. vessel. Noting its earlier denial that the Pueblo fired any shots, the Pentagon said it had no knowledge of any fatalities.

If "intruding" meant penetrating North Korea's 12-mile territorial limit, the Pentagon denied it.

Spokesmen placed the Pueblo's initial encounter with and subsequent boarding by the North Koreans at about 25 miles off North Korea's coast.

President Johnson was awakened at 2 a.m., sometime after presidential assistant Walt W. Rostow rushed from his home to the secret "situation room" in the White House basement to be briefed.

The Joint chiefs of Staff pored over secret communications about the incident in a special morning meeting.

Pentagon spokesmen said Bucher's radioed reports did not specifically refer to any North Korean gunfire. But one of his messages mentioned four injuries and later reverted to the term "wounded."

The four casualties were not identified by Bucher. Exactly what had happened to them was another of the unanswered questions.

The Pueblo was officially described as an "intelligence collection auxiliary." Intelligence collection is a euphemism for spying—which is what the North

Koreans accused the ship of doing. The Pentagon said "auxiliary" simply means noncombatant.

Sophisticated communications ships like the Pueblo can monitor foreign radio reports as well as detect radar positions.

The Pentagon denied the ship was under authority of the National Security Agency, which breaks codes and carries out other intelligence activities.

Two of the Pueblo's 83-man complement were civilians. Some suspected they were NSA specialists but the Navy identified them as naval hydrographers, or ocean researchers. The crew consists of six officers and 75 enlisted men.

THIS IS THE U.S.S. PUEBLO, the Navy patrol boat with 83 men aboard which was seized by the North Koreans. The American announcement said the vessel was boarded by an armed party about 25 miles off the North Korean coast and taken to Wonsan. The photograph was released in Washington by the Department of Defense, which did not specify when it was made. (U. S. Navy Photo via AP Wirephoto)

Romney Asks Legislature To OK $1.3 Billion Budget

State Bonds On Pollution, Fish Parks Proposed

LANSING (AP) — Michigan citizens will be asked to pass on two massive bonding programs—$33 million for water purification and $100 million for state park land acquisitions, recreation and a fish planting program.

"Bold, immediate action is necessary," Gov. George Romney declared in his budget message today in asking for the $335 million for water purification. The proposed bonding program would be used over a 30-year period.

"Michigan's most precious heritage—water—is threatened by contamination," the governor said. "Over 900 miles of water are degraded by untreated or inadequately treated waste from municipalities. Unless remedial steps are quickly taken Lake Michigan will become a 'dead lake'."

The Legislature will have to pass separate bills to put the issue on the November election ballot. The people then will decide if they want to spend the money by voting on the two separate proposals.

Clean Water, Goal

Goal of the $335-million water purification bonding program is to clean up Michigan's lakes, streams and rivers by 1980.

The money will be used to aid and encourage the building and improvement of local sewage treatment plants and interceptor sewers. Romney said it is hoped the project can be paid for 25 per cent by the state, 25 per cent by the federal government.

But the governor admitted: "The federal government share, although authorized by Congress, is not funded and doubt exists as to when such funding will be made."

As part of the program, Romney proposed a $50-million revolving loan fund to aid smaller communities who might have difficulty financing their 25 per cent.

If the federal government funds come through as hoped, Romney said, it is possible all the remaining $285 million in the bonding program may not have to be spent.

Honors Pledge To Ask No New Tax Increases

LANSING (AP) — Pledged to seek no new state taxes, Gov. George Romney today asked the Legislature to approve a $1.3-billion budget for fiscal 1968-69—the highest budget request in Michigan history.

Romney's request compares with anticipated general fund spending of $1.146 billion by the end of the current fiscal year. He had sought a budget of $1.153 billion for this year.

Backed by anticipated revenue from the state's new income tax, the Republican governor and presidential hopeful also called for two general obligation bond issues, totaling $435 million.

One, totaling $335 million, would go for purification of the state's lakes, streams and rivers. Another, totaling $100 million, would be used for park acquisition, recreation and fisheries improvement.

Both will appear as separate questions on the November 1968 ballot if the Legislature approves separate bills authorizing the questions be put to the voters.

Kept Secret

The budget recommendations—to be handed out to lawmakers later today—had been kept a closely guarded secret by the governor's office and were sandwiched into a busy campaign schedule.

Romney, the only major announced candidate for the 1968 Republican presidential nomination, planned to fly to Philadelphia later today to tape a television show and then return to the campaign trail in New Hampshire—site of the nation's first primary.

The total proposed budget was $1.334 billion. Anticipated revenues for the new budget year—bolstered by the state income tax approved last year—were estimated at $1.337 billion.

State Budget Director Glenn Allen said the state will end the current fiscal year June 30 with a general fund surplus of $24.2 million. This, he said, together with an anticipated $3 million surplus in fiscal 1968-69, would leave the state with a $27.2 million surplus on June 30, 1969.

Half For Schools

More than half of Romney's proposed spending—$705.7 million or 52.9 per cent of the budget—would go for education, which traditionally has been the No. 1 recipient of state money in the past.

Mental health would receive $157.8 million or 11.8 per cent of the budget; social service, $219.8 million or 16.5 per cent; safety and defense, $32.4 million or 2.4 per cent, and adult corrections, $26.7 million or 2 per cent.

Some $30.6 million or 2.3 per cent of the budget would go to pay property tax exemptions; natural resources would receive $22.4 million or 1.7 per cent of the spending.

Most From Sales Tax

Of the $1.361 billion in estimated resources for the new spending year, the largest portion, 25 per cent or $343.7 million, would come from sales and use taxes.

The new personal income tax would provide $272.7 million or

Republican Leaders Have Inning

Failures In War, Crime Laid To LBJ

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Congressional Republicans charge that gradualism and vacillation by President Johnson have prolonged the Vietnam war. On the home front, the GOP says administration policies have failed to combat mounting crime and inflation.

In their answer to President Johnson's State of the Union message, the Republicans called for "military success" in the war based on "effective utilization" of U.S. air and sea power.

And Republicans criticized "complacency, disunity and protest here at home" while warning the nation is losing the strategic superiority they claimed was built under Republican leadership during the 1950s.

The GOP spokesmen also renewed calls for reductions in federal spending and a transfer of programs from the national government to states and localities.

The Republican reply, featuring nine House members and eight senators, was carried live Tuesday night on the CBS radio-television networks.

Republican governors, numbering 26 of the nation's 50, were not included in the presentation, which was introduced by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and had Sen. George Murphy, R-Calif., as master of ceremonies.

An audience of Republican congressmen and senators in the auditorium of a Senate office building clapped enthusiastically before and after each speech, interrupting more than 50 times with applause.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, who has given firm backing to President Johnson's Vietnam policies in previous years, was absent because of illness. Sen. John G. Tower carried the GOP banner on the war issue.

The Texas Republican accused the Johnson administration of following what he termed "a self-defeating policy of gradualism" which he said "caused us to pull our punches; it prolonged the fighting; it cost American lives unnecessarily."

"This war could be over today if the Johnson Administration had acted with determination instead of with vacillation," he added.

Tower said Republicans stand for "military success in Vietnam that will enable the Vietnamese to rebuild a free nation," for "effective utilization of America's vast air and sea superiority" and for "quarantine of the enemy's supply lines

so that he can no longer fight."

Sen. Peter H. Dominick, R-Colo., charged: "This administration has developed a strange new doctrine—that Soviet strategic equality is better than American supremacy."

Rep. Charlotte T. Reid, R-Ill., one of whose sons left for Vietnam last week, said she believes that "not only all parents, but all thinking Americans, are as deeply distressed as I am by complacency, disunity and protest here at home."

House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford cited President Johnson's figure of speech comparing the nation with a ship heading through troubled waters and said, "The ship of state is wallowing in a storm-tossed sea, drifting toward the rocks of domestic disaster beaten by the waves of worldwide fiscal crisis that threaten shipwreck."

"We need a captain who inspires his crew to heroic endeavor," Ford said, "a captain who learned his seamanship before the Potomac and Peder-nales."

Ford said Americans have seen "raging violence, bloodshed destruction and death right on their own doorsteps."

amount of low-level radioactivity" during their two-hour inspection of the site Monday, Pentagon said in a statement issued early today.

All of the persons "followed normal decontamination procedures with no resulting problem" on their return to the air base, the Pentagon said.

Radiation at the site was "light, fixed and closely confined" and occurred in an area roughly duplicating burn marks, apparently caused by flaming fuel from the stricken bomber, the Air Force team reported.

The flame-scorched area and small fragments of the plane found there indicate the B52 may have exploded on impact with the seven-foot thick ice covering the bay, the team reported.

The Pentagon said it was not determined whether the plane or any part of it burned into or through the ice and sank in about 800 feet of water.

Burned Bits Of B52 Found On Ice

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Air Force survey team near Thule, Greenland, reports discovering burn marks, blast fragments and a "negligible amount of radioactivity" where a B52 bomber carrying four hydrogen bombs burned and crashed.

The plane crashed Sunday on thick ice covering North Star Bay near Thule Air Force Base and the bombs have not been recovered.

The Americans on the survey team, their Eskimo dog sled drivers and a Danish guide were exposed to a "limited amount of low-level radioactivity" during their two-hour inspection of the site Monday, Pentagon said in a statement issued early today.

All of the persons "followed normal decontamination procedures with no resulting problem" on their return to the air base, the Pentagon said.

None of the parts located, the Pentagon said, "were identified as nuclear weapons or parts of nuclear weapons."

It said the apparent fuel-burn area extends south from the impact point and covers an area about 50 by 500 yards. The radiation was found southwest of the impact point in an area 75 by 600 yards.

The results of the initial survey indicate the plane was headed due south, attempting to make an emergency landing at the Thule base seven miles away, when it crashed, the Air Force said.

May End Strike

At White Pine

WHITE PINE (AP) — Mine and mill workers at the White Pine Copper Co. Tuesday night reached agreement with the firm on a new contract, which could end a strike that has closed Upper Michigan's largest copper operation since Sept. 1.

Details of the agreement were withheld pending a ratification meeting Thursday by some 1,800 members of Local 502, United Steelworkers of America.

The new pact was announced by R. C. Cole, president of White Pine Copper, and Gene Saari, international representative of the USW. The agreement came after seven days of intensive bargaining with federal and Michigan labor mediators sitting in the last three days.

The 145-day strike was the longest in the history of the company, which began operations here in 1953.

The firm said operations would resume Friday at the earliest.

Two Sentenced For Bank Job

MARQUETTE — Federal Judge W. Wallace Kent, Kalamazoo, Tuesday sentenced two young men to federal prison for a bank robbery in Negaunee Dec. 11.

John M. White, 22, Niagara, Wis., was given a maximum term of 10 years for robbing the drive-in branch of the First National bank of nearly $7,000, while a companion, Ronald D. Mills, 20, Helenwood, Tenn., received a five year maximum sentence.

Mills, who did not take part in the actual robbery, had pleaded guilty to "unlawfully and feloniously carrying away approximately $2,000" from the bank.

A 16 year old juvenile involved in the robbery also appeared before Kent for sentencing, but the proceedings in his case were conducted in a closed courtroom.

Kent said the sentences imposed were maximum times that could be served. He set no minimums. The men could be paroled at the discretion of the U. S. Board of Pardons and Paroles.

Rotary: Road To Service

More than 600,000 Rotarians in 135 countries of the world are following a roadway of service to others — service that cannot be bought for dollars, Rotary District Governor Edward E. Edick told the Escanaba Rotary Club at the House of Ludington Tuesday noon.

Edick talked to his "home club" as part of his duties as governor of Rotary District 622, which is composed of 36 clubs in the Upper Peninsula and northern Wisconsin.

Ralph Kaziateck, president of the local club conducted the luncheon meeting and presented the district governor. Escanaba Rotary Club will be host to the 1968 District Conference, which will be held here April 26-27.

Serve Community

Committee chairmen of the local Rotary Club met in assembly with District Gov. Edick Monday night in a discussion of projects and programs, which include the continued operation of Rotary Camp Harstad for crippled and handicapped children on the Ford River shore and annual sponsorship of the visit of a student from another country.

The Escanaba Rotary Club has been in the business of service to the community for almost 50 years, Edick pointed out, and this service "could not be purchased for all the money in the world."

Edick brought to the members a message from Luther Hodges, Chapel Hill, N. C., president of Rotary International:

Become personally involved in Rotary; exercise leadership by being successful in your business or profession; be loyal to your community and nation and serve them wherever possible; and keep informed and develop an understanding of the problems of the people of other nations.

He commented favorably upon the Escanaba Rotary Club's program of service to the community, and noted with approval the high percentage of attendance of the Escanaba club.

Plan Conference

"In the modern sense of the word," he said, "the ideals of service which are basic to the program of Rotary, might be considered to be 'square' ideas." He made an appeal to the club to return the true meaning of the word "square" when no greater compliment could be paid a man than to be called "a square shooter" and Adam's promise to "a square deal" was as good as an oath on the Bible.

"As Rotarians let us be tolerant of those who might differ from us; but not to the point where we sacrifice our respect for popularity, or our courage for permissiveness," he said.

Edick, as district governor, concluded his tour of the district and official visits to the 36 clubs with his own home club in Escanaba.

He and the officers, committees and members of the Escanaba Rotary Club will be busy involved in preparations for hosting the district conference in April, which will bring several hundred Rotarians and their wives to Escanaba.

Top Conservation News Of '67 Was Coho Fishing

By LEE SMITHS

As another year gets rolling we might make a fast inventory of Michigan's fish and wildlife resources.

The big deal for 1967, was, of course, the coho. The coho story continues. Will the coho reduce the alewife plague to a stage where the pesky fish will no longer be a major drawback to Michigan's second industry, tourism?

Coho and pheasant are two outstanding examples of successful importations. Restoration of wild turkey and elk has also paid off.

Just as pollution control is a major problem in fish management, farmland access continues to be a major drawback in the harvesting of small game, pheasant, cottontail, quail, squirrel. Farmers are generous, and most pheasant hunters will tell of farms in good pheasant territory where they are annually welcome. However, unless a man has a farm he can go to, he can't be a pheasant hunter.

For numerous decades the prediction has been made that some day Michigan farmers would become aware of the cash value of game and fur on their property and would get together with responsible sportsmen, eager to make it worthwhile for the farmer to carry out modest programs of wildlife management, chiefly by not carrying the clean-farming idea to excess, by conservative use of herbicides and insecticides, by encouraging brushy fence rows and patches of swale and by planting strips of buckwheat.

There is no reason why, with help from farmers, Michigan can't again become the quail state that it was in an era when the most famous pointers and setters in America were owned in our state.

Returns from the 1967 deer season are on the cheerful side. A harvest of 103,400 deer is indicated, 65,500 of them bucks. This is 13 per cent higher than the 1966 record. The best deer hunting was in the Lower Peninsula, as predicted by conservation department field men. There had been a considerable winter die-off in the browsed-out yarding areas above the Straits.

It may be an excess of optimism to say that there is a growing awareness of the critical need for deer management to keep the herd on a level with its food supply by systematic harvesting of antlerless deer. A program that should have been launched when deer population was at its peak is coming to be accepted — let us hope — as a logical necessity if Michigan is to keep its abundance of the most popular of all American big game, the white-tail deer.

A happy big game bonus has been the black bear boom. Lingering from frontier days, when the black bear was charged with the killing of domestic stock, gear were hunted and trapped the year around. Protective laws have enabled the black bear to stage a come-back, providing the most rugged sport we have — bear-hunting with dogs.

We have good news about waterfowl. Hy Dahlka of Gibraltar keeps day-to-day records of ducks on one of the most important concentration areas, where Detroit River joins Lake Erie. Hy's books show that the fall migration in 1966 exceeded any that he had observed in 30 years.

Last fall — 1967 — was not as spectacular as 1966, but, compared with all other years, back to the twenties, it was excellent.

Survival Course To Be Offered

An adult education course emphasizing personal and family preparedness for survival will be offered at Bay de Noc Community College beginning Feb. 1.

The four-week course consists of 12 hours of class work. The class will meet at 7 p.m. in Room 207.

Included in the course material are the following topics: The duty of federal, state, county, and municipal governments in time of disaster; What social welfare agencies may do for you, and what you must do for yourself in time of disaster; Why you need a fallout shelter. How to build one in your basement; Our national, state, and local warning system; How to protect yourself from fallout; How to decontaminate yourself and your family from radioactive fallout; Different ways of purifying water.

Certificates will be awarded to all who attend the 12 hours.

Fred Gravelle Jr., who will teach the course, has completed a special instructor's training course and is certified by Michigan Technological University. The course is financed by a federal grant and no charge will be made to those who attend.

Suit Is Settled Before Hearing In Circuit Court

A civil suit by an Escanaba couple against an Escanaba man was settled this morning.

The action of Florence and Clyde Buchanan, 704 S. 17th St., against James A. Kennedy, 713 S. 11th St., was scheduled to go on trial before a jury and Circuit Court Judge Bernard H. Davidson at 9:30 a. m. Terms of the settlement, which was announced after the jury roll was called, were not disclosed.

The suit arose from an automobile accident at 12:25 a. m. last Jan. 7 in front of the House of Ludington. Mrs. Buchanan was injured when struck by a car driven by Kennedy. A snowstorm was raging in the city at the time of the accident.

In legal briefs filed, the plaintiffs had asked a total of $300,000 in damages, $200,000 for Mrs. Buchanan and $100,000 for her husband.

Harvey Woman Dies In Fire

MARQUETTE — Mrs. Martha Krieg, 59, lost her life as fire consumed her home Tuesday night.

She was trapped in an upstairs bedroom at her home in Harvey, five miles south of Marquette.

Firemen found her body, burned about the head and chest, at an upper window she had unsuccessfully tried to open to escape. The lone stairway to her room on the top floor of the story and a half home was apparently blocked by flames, firemen said.

The blaze, which gutted the interior of the home, is believed to have been started by a malfunction in a space heater which was in the living room of the home below Mrs. Krieg's bedroom.

Firemen from Marquette and the Marquette State Prison brought the blaze under control about 2:30 a.m. today, about three hours after it was reported. One Marquette fireman was temporarily overcome by heat and smoke, but revived.

Mrs. Krieg lived alone in the home.

State OKs Bergland Construction

Gladstone-Rapid Road Lacking OK

Restoration by the State Highway Commission of the Bergland M-64 road project in Ontonagon County to the State Highway Department's construction program has brought inquiry about the status of the long deferred rebuilding of U.S. 2 between Gladstone and Rapid River.

It is usually described as the worst highway bottleneck in the Upper Peninsula, a four-lane highway between the two communities have been deferred several times.

Rep. Charles Varnum (R-Manistique) told the Escanaba Daily Press today that his inquiry at the State Highway Department confirmed that the Bergland Road reconstruction had been reinstated on the construction schedule, with bids to be taken in 1969. It is a multi-million dollar project which will improve M-64 from Bergland on M-28 north to the improved highway near White Pine.

Gladstone's Position
The same Ontonagon area was beneficiary of a recent $1.8 million state highway reconstruction project on the Toll

Free Road to serve a White Pine mine.

Varnum was told at the Highway Department that it hoped soon to reach an agreement with the City of Gladstone which would open the way to state approval of the four-lane Gladstone-Rapid River project. The Highway Commission is meeting in Lansing Thursday on the project, Varnum was told.

Gladstone City Manager H. J. Hendrikson said that there are "several differences" to be ironed out between Gladstone and the State Highway Department before the Gladstone City Commission would give its approval to the project to continue the present four-laner on the north side of Gladstone to Rapid River.

Protest By-Pass

Resort property owners in the Masonville-Kipling area have been opposed to the highway relocation for years, saying it would harm their businesses.

Hendrikson said that Gladstone protests by-pass by the proposed highway. The four-laner has been built substantially through the City of Gladstone on its west side, with access streets to the park, business, industrial and residential areas of the city.

Asked if Gladstone wanted the highway relocated off its new four-lane site on the west side back through the heart of Gladstone, Hendrikson said no, but that Escanaba and Rapid River both have U.S. 2 through their communities and so does

Manistique, but that Gladstone is "by-passed."

Third Route?

Hendrikson said that Gladstone also heard that the State Highway Department has put proposal for a new route for U.S. 2-41 along the Gladstone Bluff to the west of the proposed relocation of U.S. 2-41 between Rapid River and Gladstone back in its planning file as an active consideration.

If the state is going to rebuild later on a route farther west, why bother with the relocation nearer to the west shore of Little Bay de Noc? Gladstone is asking.

Hendrikson said that Gladstone was concerned with complaint from the traveling public about the highway bottleneck between Gladstone and Rapid River, but noted that U.S. 2 is a bottleneck in the summer from St. Ignace to Gladstone and not just from Rapid River to Gladstone. (It is only a two lane highway and some parts of it are in poor condition and others are actually dangerous.)

Users Protest

Hendrikson said that the Gladstone City Commission plans to attend a Lansing meeting with legislative leaders on highway matters on Feb. 22 and that he was setting up a meeting of the Gladstone commissioners and State Highway Department officials in Lansing on Feb. 23 to review the situation.

The Highway Department took several construction projects off its plans for the period from now to 1970 because of lack of funds, but has been reinstated some with funds made available by the Good Roads Package of bills passed by the Legislature in 1967. The U.S. Improvement Committee reports that the Upper Peninsula is getting about 1 per cent of state highway construction funds for an area which is almost one-third of Michigan.

A PILE OF RUBBLE partially covered by snow is all that remains of this north bay shore residence. The home was bulldozed after the residents moved out, evicted to make way for a new iron ore transfer terminal. (Daily Press Photo)

Bulldozers Leave Rubble Where People Once Lived

By DAVE ANDREWS

Under the light snow, the signs of the bulldozers are everywhere, their steel tracks leaving criss-cross toothmarks in the frozen earth.

At the apex, the piles of rubble

Under a board, an old Sears & Roebuck catalog is trapped, its pages flapping in freedom. A soiled mattress lies twisted in the debris. A checkered shirt is frozen near a tree.

The serenity of Escanaba's north bay shore was broken only by the occasional sound of a diesel engine reminding of the progress to come.

The people are gone. And, amid the stately pines overlooking scenic Little Bay de Noc, the no man's land of "Shantytown" is coming down under the tons of steel in a bulldozer.

Needs Satisfied

Peter Markovich stood outside the front door of his home. He was the last reluctant resident to leave last week. "I had everything I wanted," he said, moving inside the door to show for the last time his self-made house.

"Over there I had a bottle gas refrigerator. I had hooks for pots and pans."

Outside, he'll point out, he had a two-car garage, wooden sidewalks, a plot of ground for a garden, a pumphouse and a privy.

"It didn't cost me nothing," Pete added. Markovich, a Croatian who is still as alert and sharp as many men half his age, came to the United States from what now is Yugoslavia 62 years ago. He worked as a woodsman and on July 25, 1957, he'll tell you, he moved to the north bay shore to live with his beloved dog, Poochko.

"When Sheriff come with papers I start to cry," said Pete. "Sheriff Finman say 'Don't Cry, Pete, it'll be all right,' but I tell him it's not for me that I got tears in my eyes. It's for my dog."

In the new home he has found on Sheridan Rd., there won't be so much room for Poochko to roam. The trees the dog used to climb won't be near.

There are many stories told in Escanaba about "Poochko" because through the years many people stopped on the hill overlooking the bay to see Pete and his dog.

Climbed Trees

Some people swear the dog can count. Others say it's a signal Pete has worked out. Whatever, there's no question the dog is well trained. "He could climb that tree over there," Pete pointed out. "He open the door. He even prayed."

Markovich said he has had the dog — "just a hound dog" — since he was a pup. He said he used to sit by the stove in the evenings, using a piece of meat as a reward when "Poochko" responded to his commands.

Now, the life of the north bay shore is ended.

The people have been evicted to make way for Chicago & North Western's new ore transfer terminal project. With them, a part of Escanaba is lost.

"I live better than Old Country king," said Pete. Watching the pines sway in the soft breeze, the realization came that maybe he's right.

Flat Rock To Begin Fluoride Program

Topical applications of fluoride will be offered to Flat Rock area children this summer according to Mrs. James Farrell, chairman of the Flat Rock Parent Teacher Club's topical fluoride committee.

The fluoride program which is supervised by the Michigan Department of Public Health, will be made available to preschoolers, and children who are presently in the second, fifth and eighth grades and to special cases referred by dentists.

According to Mrs. Farrell, the procedure consists of four visits to the fluoride clinic at approximately two day intervals. The child's teeth are cleaned on the first visit and a fluoride solution is applied directly to the surface of the teeth. The fluoride application only is then repeated during the three succeeding visits.

In addition to providing protection against cavities, the program offers a valuable dental experience for children with no discomfort. Dental health education by the clinic personnel, including instruction in the proper method of brushing teeth, also is an important part of the program.

Parents of eligible children have been notified and are urged to enroll their children in the program. The survey of children was made through the Flat Rock School, but is intended to include all eligible children in the township. If any family has not been contacted, please call Mrs. Farrell by Jan. 26. A small fee is charged to cover the cost of operating the clinic.

Travel By Air

The number of persons arriving and departing from Escanaba Airport in 1967 was 16,132, the largest ever and 1,774 more than the previous year.

The new traffic record comes as the City of Escanaba, with an assist from the Delta County Board of Supervisors, enters a big construction project to ready the air field for jet airliners.

The City of Escanaba sought aid from the State Board of Aeronautics and from the Federal Aviation Authority to match local funds for the development of the airport, which is a major item in the city's plans for industrial development.

The state came through with its share of the aid but the FAA cut its share drastically. The City sent a delegation to Washington to ask why and it was explained that FAA didn't think Escanaba needed the money this year. When FAA was told again that the whole development project was underway with a fall completion date it said it would see what could be done. Its own officers in Michigan said that if given authority they'd juggle funds so Escanaba's project could proceed, delaying funding to other communities that weren't going to build this year anyway.

FAA last week announced that it was giving an additional $64,700 to the project. This, it was said, would assure completion of enough of the project so the airport could handle jets this year. FAA had granted half of what Escanaba asked and needed after the city scaled down its project to what it regarded as minimal needs. City officials are now toting up the project costs and available funds to learn how much can be done.

Actually Escanaba has been somewhat fortunate in the recovery process after its first misfortune in having FAA cut aids too drastically for 1968. The squeeze is on in Washington very tight because the war in Vietnam has shrunk money available for non-war spending to a trickle. There was only $77 million available for the whole country for airport construction and that's a small amount spread over such a huge need.

Looking across the lake to Traverse City the Upper Peninsula can see an airport project which should give us some ideas. Grand Traverse County has taken over the Traverse City Airport and it has obtained the aid of two neighboring counties, Benzie and Leelanau, in the development of a regional airport. The cost of the current development project will be about $3.5 million, but a total spending of about $5 million is being planned.

The airport will accommodate jet airliners and it will have general aviation facilities. It is base for the Coast Guard's air service for the area and this doesn't bring any cash participation in the airport, but it brings some in-kind contributions.

The Traverse City area is solving the need for air service by gaining the financial participation of the entire area to be served. Escanaba has not been successful in doing this yet. The Delta County Board of Supervisors has increased the county's budgeting for the airport from $6,000 to $10,000 a year, but the main burden still rests with the city and it pays nearly half of the county taxes, so any county largesse is still a city levy.

The county is the logical local government sponsor for airports and even this is not a broad enough base, because airport benefits are spread over their entire service area and airport support should be similarly distributed. The Grand Traverse Airport shows us how it can be done. The counties about Grand Traverse aren't wealthy and their contributions to its big airport development program aren't large, about $5,000 and $8,000, but they acknowledge a public need for air service and a willingness to share the burden of its cost.

Draft And Democracy

Selective Service director Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey aroused criticism for his letter advising the nation's 4,081 draft boards to revoke the deferments of students engaging in antidraft of anti-Vietnam war demonstrations.

Now the general is under attack from another quarter.

The American Association of Junior Colleges is protesting his ruling of some five months' standing that students enrolled in programs not leading to a bachelor's degree are no longer to be classed as "college students" with a II-S classification.

According to the AAJC, more than 500,000 students in junior colleges, business colleges, as well as in four-year universities and colleges are affected by this policy. The association claims it is especially discriminatory against young men from lower-income families, disadvantaged areas and minority groups for whom a two-year occupational, technical or business-related program may be their only chance beyond high school.

Such students may, under the ruling, be considered for II-A classification, reserved for those in occupations determined to be critical to the national interest. This is a temporary classification that can be ended at any time.

This is only the latest charge of unfairness, inconsistency and discrimination in the Selective Service System as it is presently administered.

After World War I there was a revulsion against conscription because it indiscriminately killed off so much young brilliance. This is a sacrifice to democracy which our Selective Service System has tried to remedy by selective process of sparing students until their talents could be developed so that they could make a greater contribution to their nation's defense than just as doughboys.

That this works against the poor, taking disproportionate numbers of them for military service, there is no question. That a lottery system solves this problem of democratic equal treatment of all citizens however, without serious weakening of the nation's intellectual fabric, we very much doubt.

The dangers in military service are a serious hazard, but were it not for this there is educational opportunity in the military for the disadvantaged. The problem in a democracy of avoiding creation on an elite, militarily-exempt scholar society and a military with the ranks composed of the disadvantaged is difficult but not impossible, and perhaps we shouldn't be too excited about complaints, because it is inconceivable that we could have a Selective Service System which would please everyone.

THE HOSPITAL SHIP, S. S. Hope, returns to the United States after completing another medical mission in South America. The ship is staffed by volunteer doctors from all over the United States. (AP Wirephoto).

Hospital Ship Is Base For Volunteer Physicians

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Mary L. Creten, director of the Delta-Menominee District Health Dept., completed a two-month tour of duty aboard the medical ship SS Hope in December. This is her report.)

By DR. MARY L. CRETEN
When the medical ship SS Hope returned to Philadelphia, it left behind a group of health personnel to continue the pro-health organization of Cartagena and Columbia.

This land-based program was well established before the ship left and will continue to work for at least two years in organizing and assisting the medical school, health department and other health organizations of the Cartagena and Columbia.

Many people have misconceptions about the ship Hope, believing it travels from port to port accepting patients for surgery or treatment and travels on.

Actually, the Hope serves as a place for volunteer physicians and other personnel to eat and sleep with only a part of its main deck devoted to in-patient care. The ship can accept about 120 patients in two male, two female and two pediatric wards and these patients are carefully selected by the shore program for their value in teaching or because of special medical interest. In addition, many patients move through the ship's out-patient clinics for x-rays, physical therapy, braces, dental work, audiology, ear examinations, eye study and treatment, and laboratory examinations.

Work Side-By-Side
Columbian doctors, interns, dentists, nurses, pharmacists, physical therapists, nutritionists and technicians worked on board side-by-side with American counterparts in all phases of diagnosis and treatment.

The SS Hope has had many years of medical service. It was a retired U. S. hospital ship that was turned over to the Hope Foundation several years ago. It contains a complete hospital, out-patient department and drug dispensary.

The "Hopies," as volunteer physicians and most other professional personnel are called while in service, live mainly in boat deck cabins in crowded conditions.

Similar Problems
Volunteer clergymen had single cabins, but physicians lived either in four-bunk cabins or in the "jungle" which housed upwards of 25. Despite the rather primitive living conditions, many volunteer staffers return for three and four rotations and many of the permanent staff are completing four or five years of service.

Columbia, actually, has health problems very similar to those in the United States if intestinal parasitism and a few of the tropical diseases are excluded.

Because of poor education and lack of family responsibility, diseases of poor nutrition and its counterparts are rampant. Mothers do not know, for example, that a Coke is different nutritionally from a glass of milk. Because each costs about ten cents, the tendency is to take the most available drink, which unfortunately is the soft drink. Columbians also like readily available rice, potatoes, yucca and other starchy root plants.

Eggs, meat and fish are so expensive little is eaten. They do not like beans and peas, as the Central Americans do, and so there is little vegetable protein eaten. An inexpensive protein supplement called Incanarina is available and the Hope has done much to promote its use.

Distribution of foods is very poor and this probably tends to raise the cost. For example, by the time a banana gets to the consumer it may cost two or three cents. This is a very high price where anyone can grow them.

Animals Raised
People do raise chickens, pigs

and goats These animals act as scavengers and provide a small amount of protein, provided they are not sold to buy other items.

Nearly everyone has intestinal parasites. Most have two or three types of worms and perhaps amoeba. These parasites plus the poor nutrition leads to extreme anemias and susceptibility to many other diseases.

It is surprising to see such a great number of respiratory infections in a climate that averages out in the 80's. (Most days in the late Fall are over 90 degrees plus high humidity). The common name for colds or diarrheas is the "grippe" (pronounced "gripa").

Malaria is not common in Cartagena, but it is inland. Smallpox, polio, yellow fever, typhus, whooping cough and tetanus are common diseases, however. The death rate among infants and children is extremely high. Basic to these are malnutrition, filth and lack of immunizations. Also the high birth rate in some families contributes greatly to the high infant mortality.

Leprosy, leishmaniasis, filariases and other seldom heard of diseases are seen quite frequently in Columbia.

Has Medical School
Cartagena, which has about 250,000 people, is the home of a medical school which trains about 40 physicians a year. General knowledge of the students is good, but opportunities for good application has previously been limited. Very few nurses or technicians have been trained. There is little laboratory or x-ray service available. Salaries for nurses have been low. Practical nurses earn less than $50 a month and registered nurses less than $100 per month. Aides are given little more than uniforms and meals plus an opportunity for nurses training at a later date. Most physicians make fairly good salaries but often work at public clinics in addition to their private practice.

Medications are very reasonable in Columbia and can be had, with the exception of narcotics, without a prescription.

Certain bridge habits are so deeply ingrained in us that it is almost impossible to break away from them. One of these habits is that you lead a low card from a long suit unless you have some special combination of high cards at the top.

Now take a look at the West hand. You have to lead against four hearts and you have listened carefully to the bidding. South has a good hand. He opened with a forcing two bid. Also, South has a two suiter. He started with hearts and bid and rebid diamonds.

North has a bad hand but he does have at least five spades. He also has at least as many hearts as diamonds. Should we open a trump in an effort to cut down dummy's ruffing power?

This might be a good idea if our diamond suit were something like ace-jack-nine-small but it actually is ace-deuce-trey-four. We aren't likely to get more than one trick there. Thus we decide to open a club. Habit tells us to lead the deuce. Fourth best of four, as recommended in all books, is led by us year in and year out.

If we follow habit and the rules, South has no trouble making his contract. Our partner wins the trick with his ace and leads back a low club. Declare discards his small spade and now dummy's queen is the top club. No matter what we do, South will be able to draw trumps, knock out our ace of diamonds and make his contract.

If we are really alert, we should defeat the contract by the irregular opening lead of make any difference whether South ruffs right in or discards a spade. He will be faced by further club leads and will have to allow our partner to make a small trump in the cool of the evening.

Arends To Speak

Ann Landers

Display Need Not Be All Homegrown

Dear Ann Landers: Ursula we set the wedding date. Mother and I grew up together. We are both 18 and plan to go to secretarial school when we graduate in the spring.

One thing about Ursula bothers me terribly. She wears a cup — she wants to look like Sophia Loren. She knows she's not fooling the girls because we have seen her in a gym suit and she's as flat as a board.

I've tried to tell her if she gets serious with a fellow he is going to learn the truth sooner or later and this could be quite a blow to a guy who is expecting something spectacular.

What are your views on the subject? — BOSOM PAL
Dear Pal: Clothes fit better on a female figure with curves. If Ursula feels more comfortable with a little padding I see no reason why she shouldn't use it. A girl does not owe the world a guarantee that everything on display is home-grown.

I agree that Ursula would be better off if she reduced her padding to dimensions of verisimilitude. Look it up, kids.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a professional woman, 31 years of age and ashamed to say, still living with my mother. Father died when I was at Radcliffe. Mother begged me to come home and enroll in the local college. I hated the thought of leaving Radcliffe, but felt I owed it to my mother to do as she asked. I learned too late that her real motive was to break up my romance with a young man of whom she did not approve. She objected to his "undistinguished family background" and assured me he'd never amount to anything. (The man is now a U.S. Senator and has a lovely family.)

Five years later I became engaged to a professor but he and my mother got into a screaming argument and she told him he was not welcome in our home. I then had to choose between my fiancé and my mother. She went into a deep depression and I felt that her mental health was at stake so I broke up with him. Six months later he married someone else.

I am now going with a wonderful widower. Mother has tried to break us up on the grounds that widowers always compare the second wife to the first and I will go crazy competing with a ghost. Last month the only brother-sister team in Escanaba who are both enlisted in the service is Dorothy M. Hansen, Seaman 2nd Class, in the WAVES, and Harold R. Hansen, Seaman 2nd Class, U.S. Navy. Both have recently completed boot camp training and are home on leave visiting with their mother, Mrs. George Hansen, 217 Ogden Ave. Both are graduates of Escanaba High School; Dorothy with the class of 1938, and Harold, a member of the class of 1942. They have an older brother, George Hansen, who is presently in the foreign service.

Voelker Writes Of The Law Again

Court Defended On Human Rights

By KENNETH S. LOWE
John D. Voelker is at his best when writing about the law.

He demonstrated this beyond a question in his most popular book, the best-selling novel, "Anatomy of a Murder," which gave many readers their first intimate glimpse of American legal machinery in operation.

Before this, Voelker (better known outside Marquette County under his pen name, Robert Traver) had put together two excellent collections of short stories in which the central character was a Northwoods prosecuting attorney, just as Voelker himself had been. One of these, "Troubleshooter," was Voelker's first book. The other, "Small Town D. A.," was more of the mixture.

Now the Ishpeming author has penned another book about the law, but it is quite unlike any of its predecessors.

Rather, "The Jealous Mistress" is a set of 14 essays that explore the many facets of the law. They are based on actual cases from the annals of American litigation. Some of them date back to the 19th century. Others are as contemporary as Escobedo and Miranda. And all of them are unusual in one way or another.

They cover all nature of men and all variety of behavior—civil and criminal.

Voelker discusses each case with the relish of an antique collector escorting a visitor through his manor. He dusts the legalese from each case, holds it up to the light for the reader to see it clearly and then explains its nuances.

Among the cases narrated are one involving slavery in 20th

Branches in Many Principal Cities of U.S. and Canada—Founded 1904

in an age when state-worshipping totalitarian regimes have stolen and perverted the traditional language of democracy almost beyond recognition, and are relentlessly bent upon reducing the lone individual to zero, the highest court in our land (taking Sam Thompson as an example) has heard and heeded the solitary plea of an obscure Negro handyman and ringingly reaffirmed the ancient proposition — won over the centuries by cascades of blood, sweat and tears — that no man among us (these critics included) may be convicted and punished without evidence. The exact opposite, in other words, of what we know to be daily totalitarian practice."

"The Jealous Mistress" is Voelker's ninth book and, to my way of thinking, one of his best. Except for the final chapter, in which he permits himself to indulge in a rapid encounter with an imaginary woman representing the Jealous Mistress of the Law, Voelker has written a thoroughly amusing and informative book about an engrossing subject.

century America. Another concerns an indecent exposure charge brought against a group of nudists in the Lower Peninsula, a case Voelker ruled on when he was a justice of the Michigan Supreme Court. Others deal with libel, adultery, rape, gambling and assorted other matters of the court.

Voelker sprinkles his own opinions of the law throughout "The Jealous Mistress," and these are welcome, for they are the views of one who has spent a lifetime as a private attorney, prosecuting attorney and Supreme Court justice and who has tried to envision the law in a philosophical context.

He finds occasion, for instance, to criticize certain critics of the U. S. Supreme Court. There are, he says, "various noisy swarms of what one might charitably call visceral critics: the chronic grippers and grouseers, the mindless and the embittered, resentful people who once got a traffic ticket and have ever since had it in for the law, indignant and rich little old ladies in soiled tennis shoes, belligerent states' rightists, the congenial scoundrels of dark conspiracies everywhere, those who yearn for a return to the womb or to universal sheepherding, or both, and all the extreme groups, whether left or right . . ."

"Though as diverse as our population, these curious people seem united in one thing: in thinking that the court is soft on communism, coddles our criminals and is generally plunging us to hell in a homemade handbasket, and that some or all of its members should be impeached. In a word, that the court is swiftly becoming totalitarian . . ."

"It seems never to occur to these poor troubled souls that

Ask Cavanagh Identify Chief

DETROIT (AP) — The Michigan Human Rights Council Inc. called Tuesday for Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh to make public the name of the future police commissioner for the city. Cavanagh's office had no comment. The mayor said previously that he had chosen a man to succeed Police Commissioner Ray Girardin, but he did not name the successor. A spokesman for Cavanagh said Tuesday that no new police commissioner had been actually hired.

Cavanagh Asks Firearms Curb

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh said Tuesday night he expects within a week to submit to Common Council a gun control law to curb the arms race that has been going on in this city.

Calling the measure "controversial," Cavanagh said it is necessary if we are to restore sanity and balance to our community and to "avert the truly terrifying prospect that this stockpiling of weapons might be used in a senseless outpouring of hatred."

The ordinance, similar to New York City's, would require persons to register all shotguns and rifles. At present, Detroit requires registration only of small firearms.

"The fact that we have some legal tool for the police department will cause people not to stockpile weapons," Cavanagh said.

Cavanagh cited fear throughout the city since its July riot, which left 43 dead, as the reason for the sharp increase in gun purchases in recent months.

Youth Sentenced In Kidnap Case

PONTIAC (AP) — An Avon Township youth today faced a prison term of four to 20 years in connection with the kidnapping and assault on another teen-ager who lost his eye.

John L. Kildow, 19, was sentenced Tuesday by Oakland County Circuit Judge William R. Beasley.

Kildow was convicted last month of kidnapping and feloniously assaulting John Kinzie, 17, of Rochester on Feb. 13, 1967. Kinzie was hitchhiking when picked up by Kildow and Darrell Cote, 20, also of Avon Township. Kildow admitted during his trial that he smashed Kinzie in the face with a beer bottle. Kinzie later lost his left eye.

Cote is awaiting trial on a kidnapping charge.

Copper Strike 194-Days-Old

LBJ May Name Panel: Mansfield

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield says President Johnson is considering appointing a fact-finding board to look into the 194-day-old copper strike.

Mansfield said Tuesday the President "is very personally concerned" with the strike that has idled some 60,000 workers in five western states.

The Montana senator said Johnson has asked Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz and Commerce Secretary Alexander B. Trowbridge to study the matter and report back to the White House promptly.

Mansfield has urged appointment of a presidential fact-finding panel. Some Congress members from states hit by the strike have urged Johnson to invoke the Taft-Hartley Act's 80-day cooling off period to spur labor-management negotiations.

A major issue in the prolonged strike is a union demand for contracts with common expiration dates for each of the big copper firms.

Meanwhile, Arizona Gov. Jack Williams invited both labor and management Tuesday to talk confidentially in his office about a possible settlement to copper strike.

The act was in answer to a challenge made by George W. Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, in a letter last week.

Williams, in a return letter to Meany, said he could not be partisan in an effort to end the strike. "My obligation is to the well-being of everybody—miners, skilled and unskilled workers, business and professional people who supply the services—residing in the various mining communities of Arizona."

The governor said he agreed with Meany that he should act in any practical way possible to help "bring this unfortunate strike to an end."

He said he also agreed that good faith collective bargaining is essential, and that companies, as well as the unions, should participate in it to the best of their abilities.

Canadian Youth Dies In Vietnam

RIVERSIDE, Ont. (AP)—While scores of American youths flee to Canada to avoid the draft, one Canadian who made the reverse trip is dead today of hostile fire in Vietnam.

The U.S. Defense Department announced Monday that Spec. 5 Larry S. Semenik of Riverside had been killed in an ambush while returning from a patrol with his unit of the 101st Airborne Division.

A brother, Gary, said Tuesday that Larry had enlisted in Detroit, across the river from his home, "because he felt that he had more and better opportunities in the U.S. Army and thought he could travel more."

Gary Semenik, a school teacher, said his brother often talked of a belief in America's involvement in Vietnam and that "every soldier in his group believed as he did."

He said Larry also talked of wanting to help the Vietnamese people.

No Canada Units

The Pentagon in Washington says it keeps no record of the nationality of men in the U.S. forces in Vietnam and has no information on how many Canadians serve in American units. Canada has no units of its own in Vietnam.

Army recruiters in Detroit said few, if any, Canadians who have not moved permanently to this country come across the border to enlist.

Larry enlisted in the paratroopers in December 1966 while only 17. His father said he was mechanically minded and felt he could learn a trade better in the Army.

The young Canadian was sent to the 82nd Airborne Division at Ft. Bragg, N.C.

When the July racial riots in Detroit resulted in sending paratroopers to the Motor City, Semenik found himself only a few miles from home.

His father Edward says his son was given time off to come home, but encountered a little difficulty explaining to border guards why he wanted to take a grenade-launching rifle into Canada.

Disgusted By Protest

He was later transferred to the 101st, known as the Screaming Eagles, at Ft. Campbell, Ky. The 101st was involved in the largest military airlift in U.S. military history in December when the entire unit was flown from Ft. Campbell to Bien Hoa Airbase, Vietnam.

Semenik spent a 10-day leave at home before the trip. His father says he was the quiet type. He didn't talk much to his father about where he was going or what he was going to do. But he did have a little more to say to Gary, 22.

"He and a buddy went to a dance in their uniforms while he was home on leave," Gary says, "and there was a small group of anti-Vietnam demonstrators with protest signs outside the dance. They dispersed when my brother came, but he was so angry and disgusted with them he left the dance."

Pied Piper Called To Clear Rats In State Capital

LANSING (AP)—The state has a pied piper working to clear rats out of its $28 million new State Capitol building complex at Lansing.

A. N. Langius, director of the State Building Division, explained that the rats moved in to the new buildings now under construction from old buildings that had been razed in the area.

"Any time you have new construction, you will have rats around," Langius said. "Especially if there is any food around—as when workmen leave part of their lunches."

John Gaffner, chief of the Property Management Division, added that rats took refuge in the new buildings behind the State Capitol with the first cold snap of the winter.

A few offices already have been moved into the new Treasury Building. Some women employees reported they had been scared by rats popping out of hot air registers.

"We have a regular contract with an exterminator and he's taking care of it, mostly by plugging up holes," Gaffner said. "We think we have it under control now so it's not too much of a problem."

Starlings Pester At White House

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House, which in previous years experienced the Case of the Kidnaped Squirrel and the Case of the Distressed Starlings now is involved in the Case of the Make-Believe Bongo.

Many will recall the mysterious disappearance from the White House grounds of innumerable gray squirrels when Dwight D. Eisenhower was president.

Eventually the word leaked out: Groundskeepers were kidnapping the squirrels lest they disturb Eisenhower's backyard putting green, and were transporting them to new woodland freedom in the Virginia countryside.

Then, early in 1962, when John F. Kennedy was president, press secretary Pierre Salinger was asked why many a starling—a noisy and untidy bird—had disappeared from the stately trees surrounding the White House.

Salinger owned up: A recording of a distressed starling was being piped through three mounted loudspeakers, hopefully to warn fellow starlings away.

As Salinger disclosed in his memoirs, there was good reason for the effort—starlings respect neither historical landmarks like the White House, nor personages like the president.

"We all bought hats," he wrote.

The starling-in-distress recording has been resounding about the White House for more than five years—but the birds are still there in force.

The final mystery—The Case of the Make-Believe Bongo—is an example of the failure of the art of treetop high-fidelity.

Perhaps because the same record has been blaring for five years, there now seem to be more starlings than ever.

So a White House groundskeeper has been dispatched at dusk to walk about the front lawn with a stiff cardboard carton in one hand and a stick in the other.

But the more he beats the cartoon, or so it seems to those who have watched him, the more the lofty starlings amplify their squawks and magnify their other activities.

Ellis Griner Speaks At Rock PTA

Ellis Griner of the Manistique Cancer Society spoke on smoking and cancer at the Rock PTA Monday evening at the school. Three short films were also shown.

He stated that smoking has become a very serious habit among young people and the only way to prevent them from smoking is to educate them of the dangers of it. Some areas have begun education against smoking at the third grade level.

He said smoking is a habit easily acquired but hard to break. By the time X-rays show the damage to the lungs, it has progressed too far for cure.

John Small's room won the attendance award and lunch was served in the home ec. room after the meeting.

$29.20 Per Pupil State Aid Asked

LANSING (AP) — Calling for a boost in the per pupil state aid allowance, Gov. George Romney today proposed a record $29.20 — million education budget for 1968-69.

Romney also recommended a $5-million appropriation for special programs for the underprivileged and a total general fund outlay of $310.4 million for higher education.

"This is the biggest total ever for education," the governor said, "and the second biggest increase for elementary and secondary education."

He called for a general fund appropriation of $55.4 million to raise the per pupil state aid allowance between $20.50 and $29.20. The proposal was exceeded only in fiscal 1966-67 when the state had a $167-million surplus, the governor said.

The $5 million earmarked for special programs for the underprivileged would go to what Romney termed "poor districts." It was included in recommendations from the New Detroit Committee, named to help rebuild Detroit after the July riots.

"These recommendations provide for an estimated 44,000 additional pupils in the K-12 (kindergarten through 12th grade) system next fall," Romney said in his budget message.

Recommendations are made in the framework of the existing school aid support formulas.

"A more effective allocation of state aid and sharing of local fiscal capacity should await consideration of the final report and recommendations of the special K-12 financial study which is nearing completion," Romney added.

The governor told a news conference there is a need for a "better school aid formula" to develop more equity in the state aid program.

Senior citizens of Delta County may enroll at Bay de Noc Community College for college credit courses, tuition free, on Saturday, Jan. 27.

The Board of Trustees of the college adopted the tuition free policy for citizens over 60 on Nov. 30, 1967, after reviewing the results of a survey of senior citizens conducted by the Sociology department of Bay de Noc under the direction of Lyle Plovman, department chairman.

Names of 446 county residents age 60 and over, were selected from voter registration rolls and asked to respond to a variety of questions concerning their background, interests, and activities. Three hundred thirty five person, 14 per cent of the total population over 60 years of age in the county, responded to Plovman's questionnaire.

The results were studied to determine what community services the college might provide to these people. Forty six per cent were high school graduates, 64 per cent were retired, 71 per cent owned their own homes, and consequently contributed directly to college revenue. Eighty six per cent reported their health was fair or good, and 90 per cent of them said they had free time, eight or more hours per day.

In part then, free time, reasonable health, and educational backgrounds indicated that the college could provide an opportunity to make leisure hours brighter and more meaningful. With the adoption of a tuition free enrollment policy it is hoped that many senior citizens will avail themselves of the services of the college and enjoy the association with other students and the faculty, it was reported.

The college is offering courses in music and art appreciation, which are intended to help the student enjoy both more abundantly. There are courses in history, geography, and social science to develop the students' perception of people, places and events, which have helped to shape the world we live in. Courses in language, science, business, drawing, composition, economics, government and philosophy are available to all.

Senior citizens need not take courses for college credit. They may audit the courses for the pure enjoyment of satisfying their own desires, and would not be required to pass examinations. Audit students, and there are many in every age group, do not receive college credits for course work but do have the opportunity to extend their learning into fields with a real personal interest, it was reported.

Registration for senior citizens will be Saturday, Jan. 27, from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m. at the college in Room 17, the Student Personnel Office.

State Bonds On Pollution, Fish Parks Proposed

quision and recreation would be used over a 10-year period. Romney said it is hoped an additional $40 million in federal grants and $30 million from local communities to match state aid for local recreation will make the total $170 million.

The state's share in the $100 million would be split up between $17.7 million for fisheries, $40.8 million for parks, $4 million for forest campground, $7.5 million for wildlife improvement and management and $30 million for local recreation grants.

Unique to the program, Romney said, is the proposal for $30 million to local units of government for such items as swimming pools, athletic fields and parks in congested urban areas.

The park goal includes the acquisition of 6,000 new campsites and day use parking facilities for 18,000 more cars.

Salmon Success
The wildlife program would include deer habitat improvement and new and expanded game areas, including duck shooting preserves, in southern Michigan.

Romney noted the "spectacular success" of the salmon planting program.

"Lake Huron and Lake Michigan have increasingly become a sportsman's delight and an exciting new attraction has been added to our tourist industry," he said.

Romney said the fish program would include the construction of three new hatcheries to expand annual planting capacity by about 20 million fish for the sports fisheries program and to assist in the control of alewives.

Add Campsites
The forest land acquisition program in the package is planned to add 1,500 new campsites and some 1,000 miles of roads and trails.

Cost of the combined annual payment of the two bond issues, Romney said, would be about $24.4 million a year.

The over-all budget request for the State Conservation Department is $31.49 million, down from the $32.6 million for the current fiscal year.

The reduction is mostly because it is assumed the major expansion in the parks, recreation and fisheries programs would be taken care of by the bond issue.

A 23-event program of cross country and oval races will turn Gladstone into the "Snowmobile Capitol of the World" for three days next month.

The occasion is the 2nd annual Bay de Noc Snowmobile Derby Feb. 3-4 sponsored by the Gladstone Yacht Club.

Canada Chrysler Workers Strike

DETROIT (AP) — Workers at Chrysler of Canada plants in adjacent Windsor, Ont., began walking off their jobs at mid-morning today in advance of a noon strike deadline set by the United Auto Workers.

More than 900 workers at Chrysler's Windsor truck plant were the first to walk out and 1,600 engine plant employees went out shortly thereafter. Additional walkouts were anticipated.

No main table bargaining sessions were scheduled for today in the final hours before the strike hour. Some subcommittee meetings were scheduled.

Chrysler is the UAW's prime target in negotiations with the Canadian auto industry, with negotiations at Ford of Canada and General Motors of Canada marking time pending developments at the Chrysler bargaining table.

On the Detroit front, negotiators for General Motors and the UAW strove to settle three strikes which have idled 30,000 GM workers in the United States.

Local bargainers for GM and the United Auto Workers from three struck foundries were ordered to Detroit to discuss their dispute over the union's demand for a six-minute, company-paid washup time.

They will meet at GM headquarters at 2 p. m.

Cong Free Two Yank Prisoners

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. officials announced today that the Viet Cong had released two American servicemen who had been taken prisoner in South Vietnam.

A spokesman identified the two released captives as Marine Cpl. Jose Agosto Santos and Army Pfc. Luis Ortiz-Rivera. The spokesman said Agosto Santos had been held by the Viet Cong since May 14, 1967, and Ortiz-Rivera had been a captive since Dec. 21, 1966.

The spokesman said both men were released Tuesday near Tam Ky, on the coast 350 miles northeast of Saigon. He said they were taken to a hospital of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division for treatment and will be evacuated shortly to the United States.

The spokesman said he did not have the ages or hometowns of the two men, nor could he give any details concerning the circumstances of their release.

It was the first known release of America prisoners since three U.S. servicemen were released by the Viet Cong through Cambodia last November.

Fire Destroys Barn, Cattle

IRON MOUNTAIN — Fire of undetermined origin Tuesday destroyed 37 cattle and about 20 tons of hay while burning the cattle barn on the Edward Supa farm to the ground north of Norway.

Norway firemen assisted by men and equipment from the Breitung Township Fire Dept. arrived at the scene about 1:45 a. m., but the fire was out of control. Firemen were able to keep the blaze from spreading to the Supa residence.

There was no estimation of damage immediately available. Part of the loss is covered by insurance.

Halleck Says He Will Retire

Requests Reduced

MONTICELLO, Ind. (AP) — Rep Charles A. Halleck, who has served both as majority and minority leader during his 33 years as a Republican member of the House, says he will retire at the end of the session.

"Without dramatics let me tell you simply that I am not going to run for re-election. The time has come to turn over the job to a young man," Halleck announced Tuesday night at a Republican committee meeting. He is 67.

"I could have called a press conference in Washington," Halleck said, "but here is where I belong."

He said he and his wife, the former Blanche White of Indianapolis, will continue to make their home in Rensselaer.

"I'm going to start spending more time doing the things I like to do, like fishing, hunting and golfing," Halleck said.

With his departure, congress is losing one of its most colorful and toughest members and one of its most battle-scarred veterans.

Infant Dies In Home Fire Today

KALAMAZOO (AP) — Colleen Clark, 18 months, died early this morning in a fire that heavily damaged her family's rural home in Kalamazoo County.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Clark, and her 4-year-old brother escaped in the blaze believed started by an electric heater at the rear of the house, where Colleen's bedroom was located.

Neighbors said the girl's parents tried to rescue her but were driven back by flames and smoke. The fire, reported at about 1 a. m., was extinguished by firemen by 1:30 a. m.

The Hyde Kings and Queens 4H club will meet Thursday at the Ford River Township hall from 7 to 8:30 p. m. Sewing and knitting schedules will be set up and all girls in these projects are expected to be present. Recreation will follow the meeting and parents are welcome.

Claim Bookkeeper Prepared False Income Returns

DETROIT (AP) — A Ypsilanti bookkeeper, Mrs. Mary McKee, was indicted by a federal grand jury in Detroit Tuesday on 28 counts of willfully preparing false income tax returns for clients, without their knowledge.

Mrs. McKee was accused of understating income, overstating expenses, claiming fictitious dependents, and reporting false transactions on returns in 1965 and 1966.

The Internal Revenue Service said the erroneous items decreased various tax returns by $47,104.87. Mrs. McKee operates a bookkeeping and income tax service in Ypsilanti. Conviction on all 28 counts could result in a maximum jail sentence of 84 years and fines of $140,000.

Teamsters Seek Talk With Papers

DETROIT (AP) — Striking Teamsters said Tuesday night they will contact the publishers of the Detroit Free Press and the Detroit Free Press, closed since mid-November, as soon as possible in renewed efforts to reach a contract.

Leaders of Local 372, who also said they would keep Detroit's interim strike papers closed, commented after the membership gave them a vote of confidence in a closed-door session.

Elton Schade, secretary-treasurer of the local, took strong issue with U.S. Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., for Griffin's Senate speech Monday that Detroit's newspaper strike may involve "labor racketeering" and could be a challenge to freedom of the press.

Honors Pledge To Ask No New Tax Increases

20 per cent of revenues. The new corporate income tax would provide $230 million or 16.9 per cent, while corporate franchise taxes would result in $106.7 million or 7.8 per cent.

The proposed budget compared with $1.83 billion sought by state agencies.

"Budget requests in my first year as governor exceeded available revenues by $148 million," Romney said. "This year they exceeded available revenues by nearly $500 million. It was necessary to establish priorities in reducing these requests."

"The general outlook for Michigan's economy is favorable," Romney said, "but that outlook assumes a level of improvement predicted by our major industries at a time of major economic questions nationally."

"In addition," he said, "we are dealing with a tax program which has not yet taken full effect, thereby making it more difficult than usual to forecast future revenues."

"It is, therefore, imperative that next year's budget be held within the level proposed and that we do not spend beyond our means."

The new state income tax went into effect last Oct. 1, the corporate income tax and tax on financial institutions on Jan. 1.

Major new expenditure items in Romney's budget included an increase in the Civil Rights Commission budget from its current $1.4 million to $2.8 million.

Urban Problems

The proposed budget also included a series of recommendations designed to improve conditions and solve major problems in local and urban areas.

"Collectively, the dollar addition to current support is $51.9 million, of which $45 million comes from special purpose or earmarked funds, $5.3 million from the general fund and the balance from federal and local sources," Romney said.

"Never has state government in a single year moved on so wide a front to assist local government and seek solutions to major causes of urban ills," he added.

He proposed appropriations of $3.9 million to "make our state housing program truly operational and hasten the development of low cost housing."

Also called for was appropriation of $200,000 from the general fund, which when combined with federal funds would make available $600,000 for mass feasibility studies.

Boost School Aid

Romney also recommended establishment of a department of community affairs as the 20th principal department in state government.

Aid to local schools will increase by between $20.50 and $29.20 per pupil, Romney said.

Colleges, universities and community colleges would receive an additional $30.3 million.

"An additional $5.5 million is set aside for the maintenance of law and order, including a 23 per cent hike in the State Police budget from current appropriations," Romney said.

The mental health program represents a 15 per cent improvement and maintenance of the Medicaid program will require an additional $25.8 million, he added.

In his State of the State message Jan. 11, Romney told the Legislature that his call for more money and improved programs to meet education needs, urban problems, pollution control and provide strengthened law enforcement "will not require new state taxes."

This, he said, was the result of the Legislature's passage last July 1 of the state's first income tax—also regarded as one of the greatest victories of Romney's political career.

Ford's Theater Reopens Sunday; Relives History

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ford's Theater has reopened for dramatic presentations more than a century after President Abraham Lincoln was shot fatally there while viewing a play.

The historic theater where Lincoln was assassinated April 14, 1865 has been restored to its original condition through a three-year, $2.7 million National Park Service project.

The theater's rededication Sunday ended a century during which it was first padlocked after Lincoln's death and later used as an office building, storehouse and museum.

Secretary of Interior Stewart L. Udall told the 800 persons invited to the ceremony that Park Service officials "are pleased to rededicate this building as a place for entertainment and pleasure—the purpose for which it was originally intended."

The theater has been a Park Service museum since 1933. A new museum has been established in its basement and the room across the street, where Lincoln died, has been restored.

The theater seats 1,700 on the main floor and in two balconies. It has been restored to a gleaming white, with gold trim and red carpets.

The flag-draped box where Lincoln was shot will not be used by audiences at plays to begin Feb. 26. In the box is a replica of the upholstered rocking chair used by the President.

The combined sales of General Motors, Chrysler and American Motors for the second 10-day period of January were 142,028 compared with 158,731 during the same period of 1967 and 125,219 during the first 10 days of this January.

Inland Earnings Dip 21 Per Cent

Inland Steel Co. today reported earnings dropped 21 per cent during 1967 on a sales decline of 6 per cent.

Earnings were $54 million, or $2.95 per share, including 7c per share from the sale of property to the Federal government. The figure compared with $68 million, or $3.72 per share last year. A non-recurring gain of 13c per share was included in the 1966 figure.

Consolidated sales for 1967 were $991.9 million, a decline of $63 million from the 1966 record volume of $1,054.4 million.

Philip D. Block Jr., chairman, said "continuing marked increases in costs" combined with the lower volume resulted in the markedly lower earnings.

"Modest price adjustments effected during the year fell far short of offsetting the higher costs incurred," Block said.

While steel production had improved with demand in the fourth quarter, he noted, steel production and mill shipments for the year remained below the record levels of 1966.

An issue of $50 million 6 1/2 per cent first mortgage bonds was offered publicly in December. Part of these funds will be used for the 1968 capital program, Block said.

Block noted that steel demand had strengthened in recent weeks. Customers, he said, are buying to meet increased demands for their products and are beginning to build steel inventories in anticipation of expiration of the steel labor contract July 31.

Block said it was "regrettable" that the Steelworkers had decided against a plan for binding arbitration of unresolved issues in the negotiations. Such an agreement, he said would have prevented a strike, hedge buying, and the increased importation of foreign steel.

Green Bay To Pick Fifth In Pro Football Draft

NEW YORK (AP) — Commissioner Pete Rozelle has announced the ground rules and order of selection for professional football's second common draft of collegians.

The 26 pro teams will select 462 college players in 17 draft rounds next Tuesday and Wednesday here. Cincinnati, the American Football League's new expansion team, will have 42 picks—the most for any team—while the New York Giants of the National League will have the fewest number of choices—11.

The first pick belongs to Minnesota as a result of the trade which sent quarterback Fran Tarkenton to the Giants last year. After the Vikings make their choice, Cincinnati makes its initial selection.

The Bengals will have the first and last picks in each round as well as a second choice at the end of the second, third and fourth rounds. Cincinnati also gets all AFL choices except Miami's in the sixth round. The Dolphins were the first AFL expansion team two years ago.

Rozelle said each team would have 15 minutes for its selections in the first two rounds and five minutes for each selection after that.

The teams will draft in reverse order of won-lost percentage based on the combined standings of the two leagues last season except for Oakland of the AFL and Green Bay of the NFL. The Super Bowl opponents will take the last two picks in each round before Cincinnati makes its bonus choice.

But the Packers, who under those rules would choose 27th in the opening round, won't have to wait that long. They own New Orleans' first pick as a result of the Jim Taylor deal last year and will choose fifth behind Minnesota, Cincinnati, Atlanta and San Diego. The Chargers are that high because they got Denver's No. 1 choice in the trade for Steve Tensi.

Trades have provided Green Bay with four picks over the normal 17. Cleveland also has 21, Miami 20, Philadelphia 19, New York Jets, St. Louis, Baltimore, Chicago and San Francisco 18 each.

Five teams—Atlanta, Dallas, Detroit, Oakland and Minnesota—have a regulation 17 picks. San Diego, Kansas City, Denver and Washington will pick 16 each, Boston, Buffalo, New Orleans and Pittsburgh 15 apiece.

Cards Outlast Dayton Cagers

By The Associated Press

Louisville beat Dayton, 73-72, in college basketball Tuesday night, but it was more a matter of outlasting the Flyers than defeating them.

Louisville almost blew a 15-point lead in the last 10 minutes, but managed to hang on in the sloppily played game that was the Cardinals' first on their home court since before Christmas.

Don May of Dayton was high scorer in the game with 27 points, while the Flyers' Dan Obrovac poured in all of his 15 points in Dayton's second-half comeback effort.

Westley Usseld topped Louisville with 20 points.

In other games, Sam Williams scored 33 points to lead Iowa to a 76-71 Big Ten victory over Michigan State and fifth-ranked St. Bonaventure drubbed Detroit 103-74.

Canisius went overtime to down Cornell 83-79. Oklahoma City scored Southern Methodist 93-82. Vermont upset Massachusetts 85-82 in overtime and Oregon downed Portland 74-56.

Hall Of Fame For Gas House Hero Medwick

NEW YORK (AP) — Joe Medwick, baseball's newest Hall of Famer and a .300 batter during 14 of his 17 National League seasons, blames the increased emphasis on power for the recent decrease in the number of .300 hitters.

"They are all going for the long ball, but that can be corrected," said the swaggering rambunctious Gas House Gang of the 1930s.

Medwick was voted into the Hall Tuesday, less than a week after being named a batting instructor for players on the Cardinals' minor league teams.

"The averages are also lower today because of the platoon system and the fact that the batters often have to face three different pitchers before a game is over," Medwick explained.

"These days," he added, "you can win a triple crown with a .326 batting average," obviously referring to the mark compiled by Boston's Carl Yastrzemski in winning the American League's triple crown last season.

There were only 16 players on the 20 big league teams who hit .300 or higher in 1967. When Medwick captured the NL's triple crown with a .374 mark in 1937, 54 players on the 16 clubs finished with .300 or more.

A total of 48 players received votes in the Hall of Fame balloting by 283 members of the Baseball Writers Association of America.

However, Medwick was the only one to be named on the required 75 per cent or more of the ballots. He received 240 votes, 27 more than necessary for election.

Roy Campanella, the former catching great of the Brooklyn Dodgers and a three-time winner of the NL's Most Valuable Player Award, missed election by only eight votes. He received 205.

Lou Boudreau, former shortstop and manager of the Cleveland Indians, was third with 146.

Chicago Duo Solid Choice

NEW YORK (AP) — Bobby Hull and Stan Mikita, Chicago's great scoring forwards, and defenseman Bobby Orr of Boston were named unanimously today to the National Hockey League's All-Star team for the opening half of the 1967-68 season.

Three veterans players, right winger Gordie Howe of Detroit and goalie Johnny Bower and defenseman Tim Horton of Toronto, also made the first team in a vote of the circuit's coaches.

Howe, 39, a member of the All-Star teams a record 18 times during his first 21 seasons, outpooled every other right winger in the NHL to lead a first-team berth at the position.

Bonnies Bomb Detroit Five

OLEAN, N.Y. (AP) — Fifth-ranked St. Bonaventure, with Bill Butler and Bob Lanier showing the way, coasted to a 103-74 basketball victory over Detroit Tuesday.

Butler and Lanier, who hit for 29 and 28 points, respectively, were helped in the winning effort by Bill Kalbaugh, who stole the ball eight times, as well as scoring 11 points.

The Bonnies, ahead 55-36 at halftime, widened the gap in the second period with their fast-breaking offense.

The win was undefeated St. Bonaventure's 14th. Detroit is 10-6.

Charlie Ravenel scored 17 touchdowns and 6 extra points for 108 tallies in his three varsity football seasons at Harvard — 1958-60.

East Favorites Bump West In All-Star Clash

NEW YORK (AP) — Alex Hannum, holding a fistful of aces, played his cards right and the East easily turned up with the winning hand in the National Basketball Association All-Star game.

Calling on a smattering of talent, pride, competition and teamwork, the East clobbered the West 144-124 Tuesday night before a record 18,422 fans in Madison Square Garden.

The winning pot was not much — $500 for the winners and $300 for the losers—but it served to help rub out the memory of last year's 145-120 upset victory by the West. The East had won four straight before that game and now has captured 12 of 18 classics.

Hannum, coaching the East after leading Philadelphia to the NBA title last year, made sure his players knew what they were playing for.

With the West, a 10-point underdog without injured Nate Thurmond, trying to draw to an inside straight for a second consecutive year, the East wasted little time making it known it was not going to happen.

Oscar Robertson's 13 points and 12 by John Havlicek helped the East to an early 14-point lead which the West managed to cut to 64-53 at the half. And when Jerry West, Elgin Baylor and Jim King put the West ahead momentarily early in the third quarter, the East played its trump card—Hal Greer.

The Philadelphia guard scored seven straight points for an 80-75 lead and continued on to outscore the West 14-4 for an 87-79 spread and it grew from there. Greer finished with 19 points in the quarter, an All-Star record, and totaled 21 for the game. His performance won him the Most Valuable Player award.

King of San Francisco was guarding Greer during most of his barrage, although Warrior teammate Al Attles normally handles the hotshot guard in regular NBA games.

"Attles can have him back anytime," King said.

"When the thing broke loose, Hal had the hot hand," Hannum said.

"Hal got several baskets coming off screens by Wilt Chamberlain. I wanted to make sure Wilt and Hal played together; the same with Bill Russell and Havlicek. They're used to working together."

Chamberlain and Greer, of course, play for the 76ers and Russell and Havlicek for Boston.

Russell and Havlicek took over in the final period, along with Jerry Lucas and Robertson of Cincinnati and Willis Reed and Dick Barnett of New York, and turned the game into a rout. Havlicek finished with 26 points, five more than Greer.

Elgin Baylor and Jerry West paced the West with 22 and 17 points, respectively.

Experiment Shows Version Of Pro 24-Second Rule Could Aid Preps

YPSILANTI (AP) — A version of the 24-second rule used by the National Basketball Association can benefit high school play, in the opinion of coaches and other officials at Plymouth and Farmington high schools.

The two teams — with the blessing of the Michigan High School Athletic Association and help from the Detroit Pistons — used a modified 24-second rule in a recent nonleague game, with Plymouth gaining a 66-62 victory.

The time since the game has been spent by officials evaluating the effect of the time clock.

The conclusions—although everyone agrees that one game cannot provide anything definitive — have been released by John Sandmann, athletic director at Plymouth.

They include:

1. Time clocks have merit in high school basketball and the rule could be beneficial to the game.
2. Time clocks should be used as in the NBA, except that 30 seconds should be employed rather than the pro league's 24 seconds.
3. All back court fouls should carry a twoshot penalty. (More than half of all parties consulted felt the two-shot penalty should be used even without time clocks.)
4. Clocks did not cause players to hurry their play.
5. Game officials were not consciously aware of the clocks.
6. Coaches did not alter game plans because of the clocks.
7. Experienced adult personnel should operate the clocks.
8. Clocks are not recommended for age groups below high school.
9. The lone drawback seen at this time is cost, although it is reasonable to assume the cost would decrease appreciably as the demand increases.

The 24-second rule, as used at Plymouth, was altered to start the clock only when the offensive team moved the ball into the forecourt. NBA rules call for starting the clock as the ball is thrown into play. Except for the new five-second rule, all other Michigan high school regulations were in effect.

The clocks, as mentioned in the fourth and sixth conclusions, had no direct effect on the game, although it could have in the final seconds. Plymouth had a 64-62 lead and possession of the ball in the final minute of play.

Experiment Shows Version Of Pro 24-Second Rule Could Aid Preps

Forced by the clock to shoot, the Rocks grabbed their own rebound and scored the last basket just before the final buzzer.

The game itself, according to Sandmann, was rather wide open with quite a bit of running and an average defense below normal. Both teams used a straight man-to-man defense, although Farmington employed a zone press for about five minutes.

The average time for an initial shot—once the ball crossed the 10-second line—was 7.2 seconds, with both teams taking 111 first shots. Rebounding shots and other second or third attempts were not figured into the average.

The general opinion of everyone interviewed was that a 24-second rule could tend to increase the desire for better defense. It is believed that defensive players, having a time goal, would try to prevent the offensive team from scoring or at least getting the "good shot."

Conversely, it may encourage the offensive team to work harder for the "good shot" and the game would benefit in general.

Comets Win On Furious Finish

TRENNARY — A furious finish paid off in an 86-82 Central League victory for the Trennary Comets over Eben here Tuesday night.

Trailing by four (78-74) with 1:37 remaining in the game, the Comets staged a torrid rally that produced nine points and a five point lead with 50 seconds to go. The Eagles were unable to recover from the sudden surge and suffered their fifth defeat against the same number of victories.

Eben's tight press gave Trennary trouble through the game but it also helped produce 27 personal fouls on the Eagles. Trennary took advantage to score 28 of 44 shots from the free throw line to wipe out Eben's two goal margin from the field.

Greg Begovac scored 26 points and grabbed 12 rebounds for Trennary while Paul Salminen of Eben took individual honors for the night with 31 points.

Trennary won the jayvee game, 88-59.

Bennington Good Prophet Spartans Suffer Defeat In Big Ten Cage Contest

EAST LANSING (AP) — Sam Williams proved Michigan State basketball coach John Bennington a good prophet, even though Bennington probably would rather forget it.

Said Bennington before the Spartans' Big Ten game with Iowa Tuesday night: "If we can keep Williams down to 25 points, we can win the game."

Michigan State used three players trying to keep the former Detroit high school star from going over his 25-points-a-game scoring average, but it didn't work.

Williams shook them all loose to score 33 points, boosting the Hawkeyes past a 38-32 halftime deficit to a 76-71 victory over the favored Spartans.

The victory, Iowa's third in four games, lifted the Hawkeyes to a first-place tie with Wisconsin. The Spartans, Big Ten defending co-champions, fell to eighth place with a 3-2 record.

It was also the first loss for the Spartans at home in 25 outings.

Williams, scoring 19 points in the second half, fouled out of the game with 1:16 left with Iowa leading 74-67 but the Spartans closed the gap to within three, 74-71, on a field goal by Harrison Stepter and two free throws by Haywood Edwards with 29 seconds remaining.

But Iowa iced the game with free throws by Chad Calabria with four seconds remaining.

"This was a tough one for us to lose," Bennington said. "That kid Williams can kill you." In the tight ball game, he puts you at a disadvantage."

Guard John Bailey led the Spartans in scoring with 16 points and Bernie Copeland, assigned to defend against Williams, followed with 15 even though fouling out with 9:10 remaining.

Lee Lafayette had 14 points for MSU and was high in rebounds with 15.

Both teams had foul trouble. The Hawkeyes had three men foul out the Spartans two.

It was the Hawkeyes who took advantage of 25 Spartan fouls, hitting on 80 per cent of the free throw line. MSU hit on only 68 per cent of its free throws.

"We couldn't get to the boards in the second half as we did in the first. When we lost Copeland, we were hurt," said Bennington. "He did an excellent job on the boards and against Williams."

Two Big Ten games are scheduled Saturday with Ohio State (2-1) at Michigan (4-3) and Purdue (2-1) at Northwestern. Both Ohio State and Purdue can climb into first place with victories on the road.

Northwestern, meanwhile, can reclaim undisputed possession of the lead with a victory over Purdue.

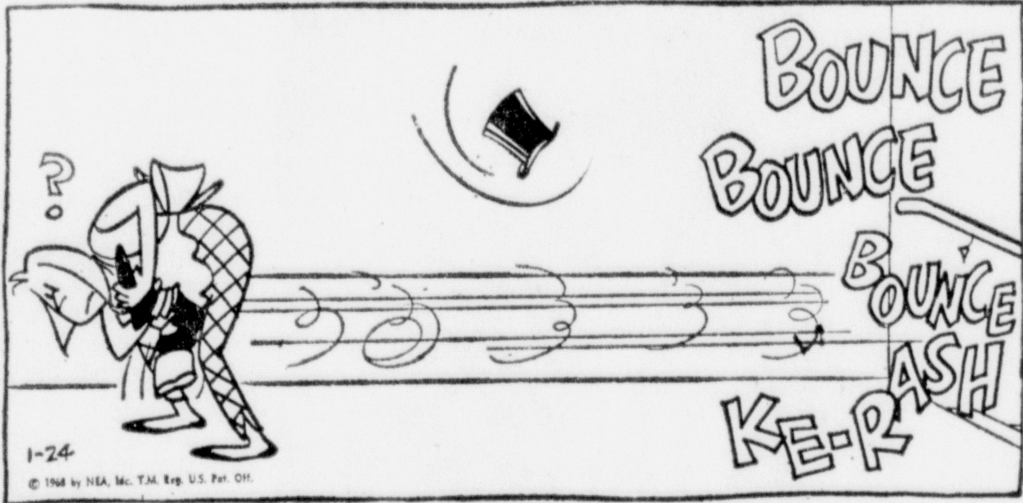

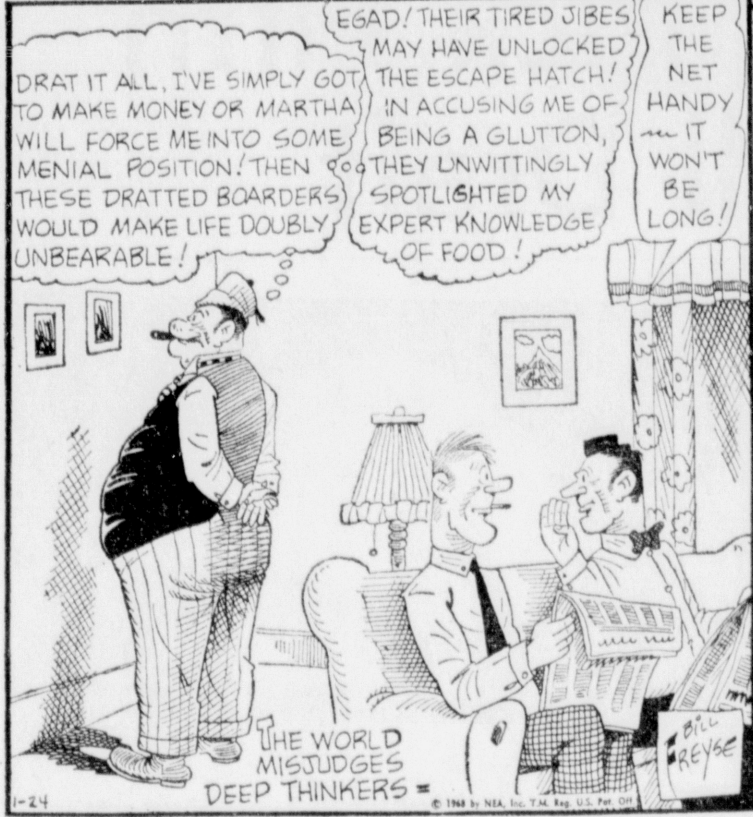

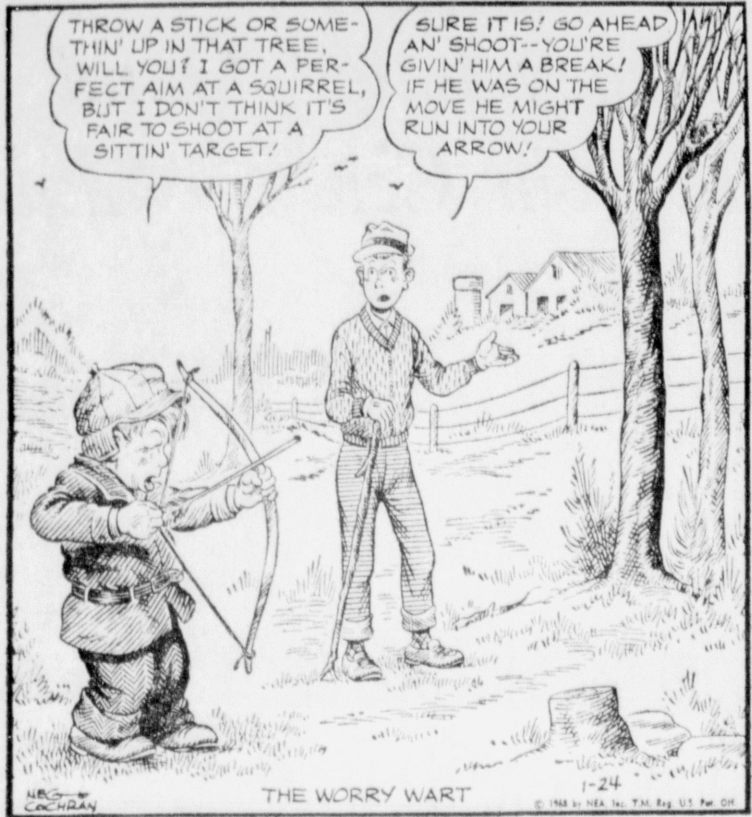

Illinois and Michigan State will be engaged in nonconference games Saturday as they play in Chicago Stadium. Illinois faces Notre Dame and Michigan State takes on Southern Illinois.

To date, Big Ten teams have 51-42 record against outside opponents.

Two Men Await Court Hearings

Wesley Caswell, 18, of Rte. 1, Gladstone, and Edward Kosow Jr., 31, of Rte. 1, Escanaba, were bound over to the Circuit Court Tuesday by Justice Edward Goldsworthy of Gladstone after both men waived examination when arraigned.

Both were held in the Delta County jail in lieu of $1,000 bond pending hearing in Circuit Court.

Caswell was charged with the breaking and entering last Saturday night of the Henry Gingress home, 424 Wisconsin Ave., Gladstone.

Kosow was arrested on a grand larceny charge involving the alleged theft of about 28 cords of pulpwood from Edward Carlson, Rte. 1, Bark River.

Gladstone police said Caswell's arrest came after investigation of the breaking and entering. State Police assisted in the case.

The Gingress residence has been entered five times. A quantity of wine, beer and a dozen eggs were taken Saturday night, he reported.

War Disrupts U.N. Program

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Paul G. Hoffman, administrator of the U.N. Development Program, says it has run into some trouble because of the war in Vietnam.

"We can't send our people into areas where they'll get shot at," he told newsmen Tuesday in response to a question. Hoffman cited a water-flow survey in the Mekong Delta as an example.

At the same time, he said there would be enough projects to use up all the money targeted for technical assistance to South Vietnam this year.

Useful Water Is Pollution Curb Aim, Says Purdy

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Waste discharge to lakes and streams must be restricted to the full extent necessary to prevent unlawful pollution, a Michigan Water Resources Commission official told a pollution conference here.

"The law very specifically spells out the injuries that can result from pollution and must be prevented," said Ralph W. Purdy, chief engineer for the commission.

"It does not and cannot require waste treatment for the sake of treatment alone," he told the workshop on water pollution.

Purdy discussed Michigan's recently adopted interstate water quality standards and the plan for their implementation.

"If we expect to accomplish the job that our future welfare demands," he said, "our financial resources must be devoted to treatment works that are necessary to protect water uses."

"The public is concerned with the total usefulness of water," he said, "not the numerical values of its laboratory analysis."
